Description

A healthy and balanced ministry is key, and this workshop will help to shine a spotlight on what may be causing bumps in the journey. Awareness is always the first and most important step towards taking back control and setting things on a path to an improved balance. A ministry health wheel is a flexible coaching tool that offers to help ministry leaders to take a bird's eye view of their ministry to identify areas of imbalance and to help leaders to create goals and set priorities based on the ministry vision. This also involves inviting the Lord into this process in a very tangible and practical way.
