Short Description

This training offers one (1) contact hour for nurses who meet all requirements. Provider approved by the California Board of Registered Nursing, Provider Number CEP 16061 for one contact hours.

Description

Presented by Leontine Bakermans, PharmD

Take a look at how hormonal contraception can act against women. When artificial hormones are introduced to change how a regular menstrual cycle works, there are side-effects, especially for adolescent girls. Emergency contraception and chemical abortion pills will also be discussed. Explore the details of how hormonal contraceptives, emergency contraception, and the abortion pill work to see what dangers any woman considering these options should know.
